MISS WANDA RACE BECOMES THE BRIDE OF VANCE STEWART AT CHURCH WEDDING

interest to El Pasoans was solemnized at 8:30 ocock Wednesday night at the church of St. Clement, when Vance Stewart and Miss Wande Vassar Race were united in marriage by Rev. Henry Easter.

The church was decorated in green and white. Down the middle sisle were extended from side to side arches of white, festooned gracefully with smilax. In the center of the arch at the altar was hung a large wedding bell of white roses and smilax, under which the bride and groom stood when they were pronounced man and wife. Many candles in candelabra and single can-candles in candelabra and single candlesticks burned on the altar and palms and tases of white roses completed the beautiful decorations.

Previous to the ceremony, Francis Moore played several selections on the pipe organ and Mrs. J. J. Kaster sans very sweetly "Because." The wedding party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. Mr. Stewart entered from the vestry room with his best man, Tom Newman. The ushers came first, two and two, Messys. Morgan Ketchum, John Ridley, G. C. Shannon, Charles Bassets, Ted Houghton and W. E. Ramsey. The bride's maids entered next.

Miss Elleen, Walz, who came first, ware a gown of deep pink chiffon over creps de chine, draped in shadow lace. A black girdle gave a touch of color and she carried a large white hat filled with pink Killareny roses as did all the bride's maids.

Miss Anne Lee Gaines followed next in a pink gown of creps de chine in a slightly lighter shado. Her dress was trimmed in shadow lace with black girdle.

Miss Martha Thurmond, who came

Miss Martha Thurmond, who came next, wore a gown of Helen pink messaline trimmed with shadow lace in bortha effect.

Next to follow Miss Thurmond was Miss Carrie Race, who wore a gown of light shade of pink messaline trimmed in shadow lace.

Miss Lemire Nebeker, who then entered, wore a very light shade of pink draped in shadow lace and hand embroidered in tiny pink roses.

Miss Gertrude Stewart, sister of the groom, wore a pink messaline gown under biue chiffon and carried a boquet of pink roses.

mins Gertruge Stewart, sister of the groom, wore a pink messaline gown under blue chiffon and carried a boquet of pink roses.

Following next came Miss Lucy Werne, maid of honor. Miss Werne wore a gown of white accordeon picated chiffon trimmed with shadow lace and draped with jacker effect on the waist. Miss Werne wore a coral turban and her gown was draped with a wide coral sach. She carried Killarney roses.

Intherine White as the dainty ring hearer entered dressed in white and pink and carried a large calla lily.

Lydia Happer preceded the bride and scattered rose leaves in her path as she walked down the able. Lydia wore a gown of white with pink ribbons.

The bride came in on the arm of her father. William E. Race, who gave her in marriage. She wore a handsome gown of white brocaded satin with court train. The gown was trimmed with rose point lace which had been worn by the bride's grandmother. The holice was gracefully draped in cape offect with a ficlu. On one side of the skirt was an elaborate pattern effect of the lace and the long fulle veil, which she wore over her face, extended to the end of the train. The veil was worn in hood effect and daintily caught with erange blossoms. She carried a large shower bouse of bride's roses and illies of the valley.

At $730 celock, after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Race, 1520 Montana street. The guests were received in the music room by Mr. and Mrs. Race and the bridal party. Mrs. Race wore a handsome gown of white charmeuse under allyer pet and carried pink Killarney roses. The house was decerated throughout in different schemes, 3h the music room were vases of white calla liles and pink roses of white calla liles and was decerated throughout in different schemes, in the music room were vases of white calla lilies and pink roses and carnations; the library, was decorated in red carnations in profusion: white roses were used in the dining room. The dining table was exquisite in white. The dome overhead bore the semblance of a wedding hell. White satin covered it and and tilles of the callet and the callet a satin covered it and and lilles of the valley and smilax were also used. White satin ribbons to which tilles of the valley were attached were drawn from the dome to the corners of the table and tied to crystal baskets which held lilles of the valley. Crystal candlesticks with white candles were tied with tiny narrow white ribbons. In the center of the table were crystal vases filled with white roses.

The bride's cake, which was a large white one, was at one end of the table and to this were attached bows of white ribbon which were pulled when the cake was cut. In cutting, Miss Lucy

Women's Organizations

The regular monthly meeting of the art department of the Woman's club was held on Wednesday afternoon in the assembly hall of Hotel Paso del Norte. Previous to the art meeting, the business meeting of the general club was held. Notice was given of the changes to be made in the constitution and bylaws, the same to be voted upon at the general club meeting next Wednesday.

changes to be made in the constitution and bylaws, the same to be voted upon at the general club meeting next Wednesday.

Mrs. E. Kohlberg, chairman of the nominating committee, gave her report and the list of names was read. The regular meeting was then opened. The chairman, Mrs. Alice P. Thompson, presided. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. L. Dwyer, and approved.

Mrs. Thompson showed and explained two valuable pictures from Maxica. The program then followed the subject being "Illustrators." Mrs. J. H. Hirt read an interesting paper on F. Hopkinson Smith, who is called the "Thackeray of America." Mrs. Hirt said that he is a noted illustrator, but the world knows him best as a writer of short stories.

Mrs. Bus Jackson read an interesting letter from Miss Alice Barber Streens telling of her dally work as an illustrator of child hie, rural life and old men and young girls.

Mrs. W. C. Davis spoke in an instructive way of Charles Dana Gibson, the noted artist and illustrator. Mrs. Davis gave a brief sketch of his life and spoke of his 22 years of fame. "His Gibson girls are as famous abroad as at home," she said.

Mrs. M. A. Tilton spoke on Allen True, a young American illustrator, who as a boy lived in El Paso. Mrs. Tilton knew Mr. True as a neighbor boy and told many interesting reminiscences. She said: "Allen True excels in depicting western life, especially the golden annests of the west."
